PROJECTS

E-Procurement System
"This is a web development platform that enables the purchase and sale of goods, products, and services through electronic methods and provides an interface between B2B and G2B. The platform consists of two panels: the admin panel, which manages the platform, and the vendor panel, which allows vendors to sell their products."
"I used CSS, HTML, JavaScript, and Java for the front-end, and SQL for the back-end."

Marc(HRMS)
"This system combines web development and Human Resource Management with two panels - one for the admin and one for employees. The admin panel allows for control of all employee activities such as registration, attendance and salary management, notifications, and printing of salary slips. The employee panel enables employees to view their profiles, attendance records, notifications, change their passwords, and edit their profiles."
"I used HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and PHP for the front-end, and SQL and phpMyAdmin for the back-end."
