Oceans Of The World

Oceans cover a major part of the Earth! Massive oceans are found amidst the continents. Here is the list of ocean names. Identify and write the name of each ocean in the correct position on the world map.

Southern Ocean
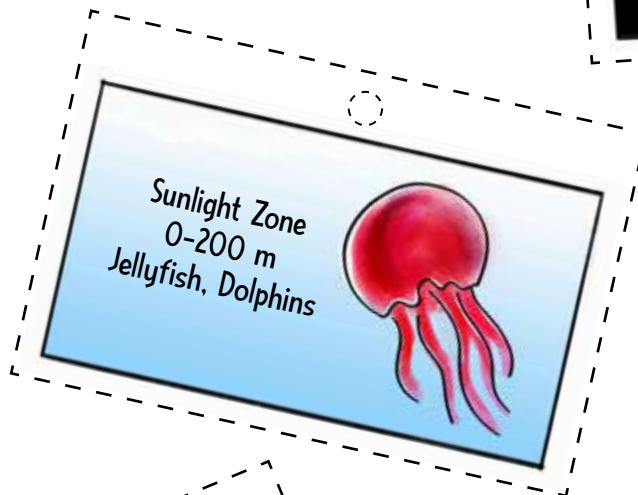

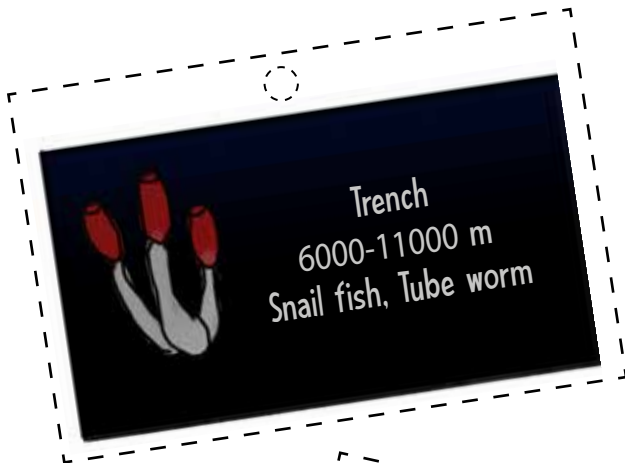

Arctic Ocean

Indian Ocean

Atlantic Ocean

Pacific Ocean

N

Did You Know
The acronyms 'PAIAS' will help you recall all the ocean names:
Pacific Ocean, Atlantic Ocean, Indian Ocean, Arctic Ocean, and Southern Ocean.
The oceans mentioned in the acronym are in the order of the largest to the smallest.

Oceans Zones

There are five distinct zones in an ocean. Each zone is home to different ocean creatures. The deeper we go, the darker and colder it becomes. This happens because the sunlight doesn't reach that far into the ocean.

Here are the different zones and information about each zone. Cut along the dotted lines and punch out holes; using yarn, string the ocean zone in their respective order, and you can hang it up in your room!

Trench
6000-11000 m
Snail fish, Tube worm

Abyss
4000-6000 m
Angler fish, Giant squid

Sunlight Zone
0-200 m
Jellyfish, Dolphins

Twilight Zone
200-1000 m
Crab, Shark

Midnight Zone
1000-4000 m
Dumbo octopus, Eel

Did You Know
Algae and phytoplankton take in Carbon dioxide and create Oxygen.
They create more Oxygen than any other living organism!

Answers: Sunlight Zone; Twilight Zone; Midnight Zone; Abyss; Trench.

Whale Pathfinder

How easy is it to get lost inside the mighty big whale? Do you think you can find your way through the whale?

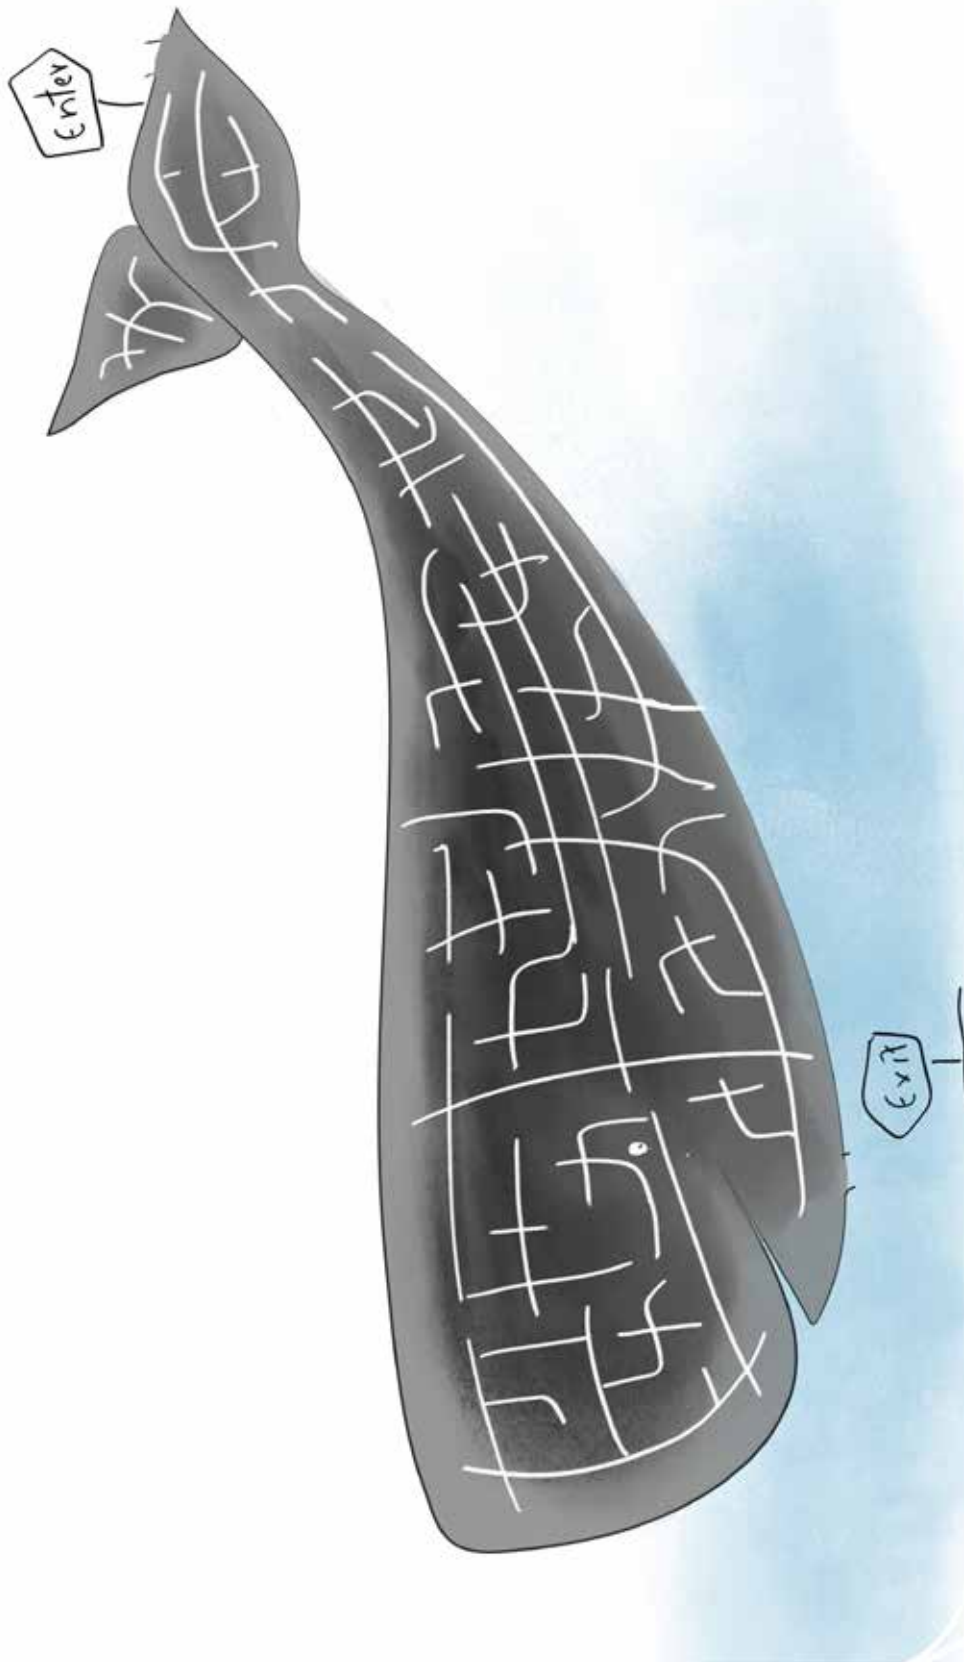

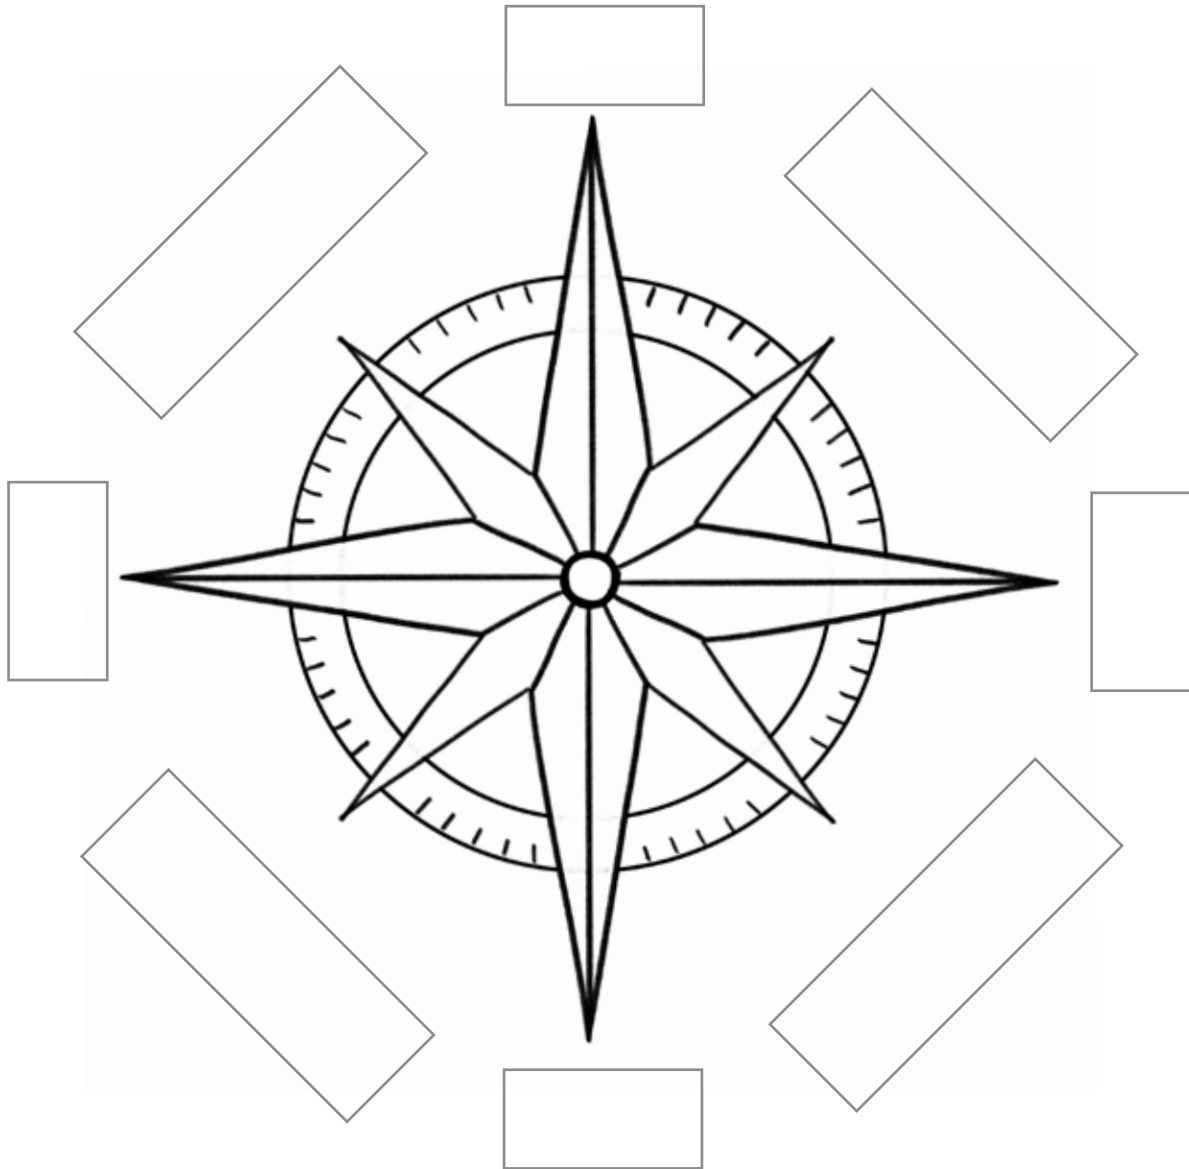

Did You Know
Blue Whale is the largest creature on the Earth.
It's bigger than the biggest dinosaur that ever existed.

My Ocean Compass

A compass is a tool that helps us — find directions. Using a compass, we can find the directions North, South, East and West. Sailors often use a compass to navigate through the oceans!

Colour the compass given. Then, cut and paste the correct directions on the compass.

| East | West | North | South |

| North-east | South-east | North-west | South-west |

Did You Know
The very first compass was created by the Chinese.
They would use the compass to find lands to create cities in.
